Dance at the Outrigger.

When a small circle of girls turn all their time and energy toward raising funds for an object which is greatly for the public good, it is up to the public, we think, to lend them every possible assistance. Every one has patronized benefit affairs in the past with a zeal which speaks well for their charitable dispositions. Now comes the Hui Au Kai, or girls' swimming club, that has conceived the splendid idea of bringing down the woman champion from California to enter the aquatic contests during the carnival week. This will be either Miss Dolly Mings, Miss Margaret Brack or Miss Dorothy Decker who will have to swim off some race or other first to definitely decide just who is the champion. Anyway the Hui Au Kai girls want $300 to bring her down—there is no reason why the men should be the only ones represented. They have planned, therefore, a dance to be held at the Outrigger Club on January 24—remember the date. It will be quite a social event all the patronesses being prominent members of the smart set. It is to be run on the same principle as the Eiks' charity ball—the men to pay a dollar for their tickets which includes a lady or not, as they wish, with 50 cents for each additional lady. This is the first time the Hui Au Kai has come before the public to any extent. It is a small club—to be eligible one must swim a certain distance using the Australian crawl stroke. As comparatively few girls in Honolulu can swim with any kind of a stroke to say nothing of the Australian crawl, the membership is naturally limited. Miss Miriam Stacker is president and Miss Mildred Deas, secretary-treasurer.

Among those who will act as patronesses are Queen Liliuokalani, Mrs. W.
F. Frear, Mrs. S. B. Dole, Mrs. F. J.

Reception at the Country Club.

Mrs. Clarence Ashford and Mrs. L.
McCandless were hostesses yeaterday afternoon at a very beautiful reception at the Country Club in honor of Mrs. Jefferson McCann, wife of the new district attorney, and her mother, Mrs. Andrew Allison. The club house was exquisitely decorated for the occasion with orchids and la-France roses. During the afternoon the quartet from the Bijou theater rendered a delightful program of light opera selections. About two hundred guests were present.

Miss Marjorie Gardiner announced her engagement to Lieutenant W. C.
Harrison, U. S. A., at a tea given one day this week. The bride-elect is the Fortress Monroe in Virginia before his death five years ago. Lieutenant Ralph Chrystal Harrison, U. S. A., ant Harrison was graduated from West Point with high honors and is corps at Fort Worden, Seattle. The June.—Exchange.

A wedding of interest in Honolulu was that of Miss Mary Elizabeth Kellner and Mr. James F. Berry, which took place on New Year's morning, the Rev. John Erdman officiating. The young couple are well known in the islands, where they have lived for many years. After their honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Berry will live on Kinau street.

Claus Augustus Spreckels sailed a few days ago for Europe, accompanied by his niece, Miss Orrie Wooster.
They will join Mrs. Spreckels at Cape Martin, where she has a villa for the season. Miss Wooster, who spends most of her time with the Spreckels, will be their guest all winter.—Examiner.

The new home of the Templeton Crocker's (Helene Irwin) is to have a beautiful boudoir designed and decorated on suggestions made by Mrs.
Crocker herself and her favorite orchid shade will be introduced in hangings and decorations.

Captain and Mrs. John Ellicott and Miss Priscilla Ellicott were host and
